PEERESS FIGHTS WOMEN IN POLITICS

Marchioness of Townshend Feels They Neglect Home and Duties.

By F. A. WRAY.
International News Service.
LONDON, Nov. 23.—"I really don't think that women should be in Parliament at all," said the Marchioness of Townshend in an interview today.

"This is not, of course, because I think that a woman, by doing so, neglects her home and her children, but because I feel that women in Parliament would be far too apt to concentrate on home affairs and the concerns of women and children to take to the parochial instead of a national attitude."

"That is why I shall not attempt election to Parliament, but will confine my political activities to the social side, although I shall do some public speaking."

Right Type Problem.
"One of women's greatest political faults in the past has been that they have continually spoken as though men, with wives and children of their own—to say nothing of mothers and sisters—were active enemies of our sex. That is one of the greatest mistakes ever made."

"And another difficulty about women in Parliament is the trouble in getting the right type of woman to stand for election. We don't want to have nothing but spinsters, who, however, have not the broad sympathies and understanding of the best type of married women. Neither do we want the embittered woman, who turns from disappointment in her married life to find solace in public service."

"But so far as I understand, the women in England, outside the big cities, seem to take no interest in politics at all. That is a pity, and I think women enthusiasts should agitate with all the might to make women as keen on political affairs as men."

No Political Plan.
"That is why I am about to begin a new type of political entertaining. I want to get together 11 sorts of people—actors and actresses, as well as average men and women—and the few people who are actively interested in politics, and then set them all talking. There will be no platitudes or long-winded speeches, but just a few facts set out clearly for discussion."

"I may be accused of trying to revive backstairs influence and petticoat government, but that doesn't matter. So long as I can arouse a political and municipal conscience in women I shall be satisfied."

"Once we can get women interested in public service and convince them that this is the duty of every citizen that we will quickly educate my sex to a sane and lively interest in the great subjects of national and world politics."

GERMAN HOOTCH POWDER BRINGS MAIL FRAUD ORDER

The old adage "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," never held truer than in the case of Carl Grundler, of Munich, Germany, who by the use of "powdered booze," planned openly to make the United States "wetter than the Atlantic."

Grunder was recently made the subject of a fraud order by the Postoffice Department, which held that the powders offered by the German, even when mixed with water as per directions, could never cause even the mildest "jag," so the Postoffice Department has been rounding up letters sent to Americans by Grunder.

This week the postal inspectors caused 21,000 "slips 'twixt the cup and somebody's lips" when this number of letters were seized.

LLOYD GEORGE DENIES HE IS COMING TO U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—A persistent rumor that former Premier David Lloyd George is planning a trip to the United States for a vacation was denied today by G. N. Shakespeare, M. P., Lloyd George's secretary.

He said that the former premier will be too busy all winter with political affairs to leave the country, although it is his ardent wish to visit the city where the famous Washington arms conference was held.
